

Downtown denizen

Paula Burch Celentano
pburch@tulane.edu

The Hutchinson Memorial Building, left, houses the Tulane University School of Medicine, the second-oldest medical school in the Deep South. Completed in 1929, the art deco building was constructed with funds from a bequest by Alexander Charles Hutchinson.