

Fighting Cancer on Two Fronts

April 19, 2024 10:00 AM

Researchers and leaders from Tulane Cancer Center and LSU met with cancer physicians and researchers from Ukraine.

Four cancer scientists from Ukraine recently met with researchers at the Louisiana Cancer Research Center to improve cancer patients' care in their war-torn country. It did not take long for potential collaborations to emerge. Igor Tokarchuk, MD, PhD, was fascinated by the organoid platform presented by Tulane Associate Professor of Medicine and Assistant Chair of Research Matt Burow, PhD. Given the fact that Dr. Tokarchuk has some practical experience with the model platform, he is now thinking of starting similar work in his lab at home. Read the full story here.