

Tulane Dermatology Recognized in New Orleans Magazine

July 01, 2014 12:00 PM

In July 2014, Tulane University Department of Dermatology was honored in New Orleans Magazine's Faces of Louisiana. Widely respected by both patients and fellow physicians, Tulane Dermatology has long been recognized as one of the region's most trusted resources for skin health. The department's physicians bridge the gap between basic dermatological needs and complex conditions, providing care for patients of all ages—even entire families. With expertise that extends into other areas of medicine, Tulane's specialists deliver comprehensive, big-picture care that leads to better outcomes.

See original article