TEACHING EXPERIENCE AND RESPONSIBILITIES

Formal Clinical Course Responsibilities:

- Attending Physician 2011-present
Third-year Internal Medicine Clerkship
Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation Outpatient Consults
LSU Department of Medicine
New Orleans, Louisiana

Arrange clinical rotations for junior medical students to increase understanding of neuromusculoskeletal medicine. This rotation has been popular and generally has between two and four medical students at any time during the academic year. The clinical site is the New Orleans Veterans Affairs Medical Center.

- Attending Physician 2011-present
Fourth-year Medical-Student Rotation
Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation
Department of Medicine
LSU School of Medicine
New Orleans, Louisiana

I have been course director for several senior rotations in physical medicine and rehabilitation. This includes coordinating rotations for visiting students, which requires frequent meetings with the associate dean and assistant dean in the Office of Student Affairs. The clinical site is the New Orleans Veterans Affairs Medical Center.

- Attending Physician 2011-present
Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation Consults
Tulane School of Medicine
New Orleans, Louisiana

Conduct attending-physician teaching rounds with internal-medicine residents, medicine/pediatrics residents, and preliminary residents who complete a rotation. This is coordinated with the graduate medical education director at Tulane, who is presently Dr. Jeffrey Weise. The clinical site is the New Orleans Veterans Affairs Medical Center.

- Attending physician 2011-present
Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation Service
Department of Medicine
LSU School of Medicine
New Orleans, Louisiana

Supervision and teaching of at least three physical medicine and rehabilitation residents throughout the year on an outpatient teaching service at the Veterans Health Administration.

- Attending physician 2012-present
Pain Medicine Continuity Clinic
Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation Service
Department of Medicine
LSU School of Medicine
New Orleans, Louisiana

Organized and began the continuity clinic and conduct attending-physician teaching rounds with pain-medicine fellows at the Veterans Health Administration.

- Lecturer 2017-present
First-year physical therapy students
LSU Department of Physical Therapy
New Orleans, Louisiana

Lecture students on the anatomy and physiology of pain transmission, as well as the details and efforts to address the opioid epidemic.

- Lecturer 11/30/2017
Responsible Conduct in Research Seminar Series
Tulane University
New Orleans, Louisiana

Lecture medical and graduate students on the mentor and mentee relationship.

- Lecturer 02/20/2018

Lecture physician assistant students on the basics of evaluating and treating low back pain.

- Course Director and Lecturer 07/20/2018
Controlled Substances/Opioid Training
LSU School of Medicine/Louisiana State Board of Medical Examiners Approved
New Orleans, Louisiana

Lecture physician assistant students on the basics of evaluating and treating low back pain.

Curriculum Development/Implementation:

- Member 2011-2012
Curriculum Committee
LSU School of Medicine
New Orleans, Louisiana

Worked with Assistant Dean Richard DiCarlo, M.D., with specific focus on musculoskeletal examination.

Creation of Enduring Teaching Materials:

- Study Guide Committee Member 2003-2004
American Academy of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation

Contributed to the creation of a geriatric-rehabilitation study guide produced for the American Academy of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation, outlined below under scholarship.

- Louisiana Department of Health December 1, 2016
Louisiana Medicaid

Contributed to the creation of a webinar regarding the appropriate prescribing of opioid medications, in light of the opioid epidemic and the 2016 CDC guideline.

Formal Basic Science Course Responsibilities:

- Lecturer 2011-2016
LSU School of Medicine
Science and Practice of Medicine Course
New Orleans, Louisiana

Give an annual one-hour lecture entitled Physical Activity. This is in conjunction with leading the small-group discussions and organizing, in coordination with Richard DiCarlo, M.D., Assistant Dean of Undergraduate Medical Education, the entire module. My responsibilities also involve teaching students how to present teaching materials effectively.

- Enduring Materials Preparer 2015
LSU School of Medicine
Neurologic and Musculoskeletal Examination Video
New Orleans, Louisiana

Directed the production of a video for medical students that outlined the physical examination of the neurologic and musculoskeletal systems. This was done in association with Robin English, M.D., Director, Clinical Sciences Curriculum.

- Lecturer 2015
 LSU School of Medicine
 Low Back Pain Team-Based Learning Collaborative
 New Orleans, Louisiana

Assisted in organizing the first team-based learning module, in coordination with Robin English, M.D., Director, Clinical Sciences Curriculum. My responsibilities included preparation of the presentation, examination materials, and analysis of the effort. This was done for the first-year medical students.
- Lecturer 2016
 LSU School of Medicine
 Low Back Pain, Senior Special Topics
 New Orleans, Louisiana

Prepared and presented to senior medical students, assisting Betty Lo-Blais, M.D., Director, Senior Special Topics for graduating medical students.
- Clinician Course Co-Director for the Musculoskeletal System Course 2016-present
 LSU School of Medicine
 New Orleans, Louisiana

This is a three-week course for second-year medical students. Clinical co-course directors work closely with other course directors, the systems course coordinator, and longitudinal content directors in Microbiology, Pharmacology, and Pathology.
- Lecturer 2017-present
 LSU School of Medicine
 Clinical Skills Integration Course
 New Orleans, Louisiana

Provided three afternoons of four hours each of examination demonstrations to orient new, junior medical students to musculoskeletal examination skills.

Departmental Teaching Conferences:

- Weekly Pain Medicine Conference 2011-present
 Department of Medicine
 LSU School of Medicine
 New Orleans, Louisiana

Attend pain-medicine conference in my capacity as both faculty member and associate program director of pain-medicine fellowship.

- Weekly lecture series for Section of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation 2011-present
Department of Medicine
LSU School of Medicine
New Orleans, Louisiana

Attend lecture series intermittently for faculty-supervision purposes.

- Lecturer 2012-present
Section of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation
Department of Medicine
LSU School of Medicine
New Orleans, Louisiana

Give annual lecture to residents on ethics and professionalism, as well as other topics on an as needed basis.

LSU School of Medicine
New Orleans, Louisiana

Voted by the senior class as best new course. Invited to receive the award by LSU at pre-commencement.

Medical Students Trained:

2011-present

I have started several new rotations during my tenure at the Veterans Health Administration. The number of third- and fourth-year students who have rotated with me has now reached approximately 175 per year, usually for two- to four-week periods. There are also first- and second-year students who interact with me through observation or through workshops I have organized for medical-student interest groups, the formation of which I guided. Overall, I would estimate that I have worked with approximately 1,200 graduated medical students on a personal basis.

Residents Trained:

2011-present

I have been active in teaching residents throughout my time at the New Orleans Veterans Affairs Medical Center. In addition to lectures at the medical schools, I teach at least three PM&R residents at a time and often more, in addition to residents of other specialties, such as internal medicine, neurology, emergency medicine, and anesthesiology. During my tenure since 2011, I have worked with 42 graduated PM&R residents and numerous others of varying specialties.

Post-Residency Fellows Trained:

2011-present

The LSU Department of Medicine's Section of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation has an average of three pain-medicine fellows in training at any given time in its one-year fellowship program. I supervise fellows in the continuity clinic and interact in a supervisory fashion. From 2011 to the present time, I have trained approximately 22 fellows.

RESEARCH AND SCHOLARSHIP

Grants and Contracts:

Funded: Communicating Impact of TBI (Traumatic Brain Injury) on Community Reintegration through Photovoice, VA HSR&D IIR 14-399, 3/01/2016-2/28/2019 (Gala True, PI), $350,000/annual direct costs, 5% effort (Role in grant: Co-Investigator)

The goal of this participatory action research project is to build collaborations between post 9/11 Veterans with a mild to moderate traumatic brain injury, their family care partners, and other VA and community stakeholders with the goal of identifying gaps in care services, barriers to accessing care, and resources to improve post-deployment health outcomes and reintegration for Veterans and support for their care partners.
