

BANGL Research Assistant Application

Please email your completed application with a CV to sdrury@tulane.edu

Student applicants are required to commit at least 10 hours a week to research in the laboratory. Students must be available for at least one Saturday per month.

Applicants seeking positions for less than six months are not encouraged. Positions for summer rotations are available, but applicants are encouraged to apply in the fall, as positions fill rapidly. Applicants from a range of disciplines are encouraged to apply, as research in the laboratory is highly transdisciplinary.

While previous research experience is not required, RAs in the laboratory are expected to be independent, reliable, motivated, and committed to being part of the research team.
