
INSIDE TulaneMed

November 15, 2021

News

1. Dr. Greg Stewart discusses the challenges of veteran health care, new treatment concept in Tulane's On Good Authority podcast
2. Tulane researchers examine relationship between viral dose and COVID-19 severity
3. Check it out! SoM Powerpoint & Poster Templates, Logos & More Now Available On Demand
4. REMINDER: Complete your mandatory EDI training by November 30th
5. Coming Soon: 12th Annual Faculty Research Synergy Event happens December 7

Tell us your news

Events of the Week

Departments of Medicine and Physiology present What does sugar have to do with lupus? with Rhea Bhargava, MD, Department of Nephrology. Monday, November 15 at noon. Join via Zoom, passcode: 183289.

Program in Medical Ethics and Human Values presents Why Health Equity Matters for Health Care: COVID-19 Pandemic & Beyond with Faith Fletcher, PhD, MA, assistant professor in the Center for Medical Ethics and Health Policy at Baylor College of Medicine. Tuesday, November 16 at noon. Register and join via Zoom.

Tulane's Bioethics and Medical Humanities MS program fall information session. Wednesday, November 17 at noon. Register in advance and join via Zoom.

Deming Department of Grand Rounds Cardiovascular disease risk prediction: past, present & future with Seamus Whelton, MD, MPH, Assistant Professor of Medicine at Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine, Division of Cardiology. Wednesday November 17 at noon. Join via Zoom, passcode: 364992.

Submit your event

Lagniappe

The School of Medicine and Tulane National Primate Research Center present AI² Symposium: Aging, Inflammation and Infection. Friday, November 19th 1:00-4:30pm.

The goals of the symposium include expanding collaboration, encouraging new grant applications and forming new research teams amongst all divisions of the School of Medicine. Participants include Tulane students and faculty, and presentation formats will include brief individual oral presentations and a digital poster session.

To register, click here. Contact Lindsey Reynolds at (985) 871-6201 for more information.

Dr. Greg Stewart talks veteran health care

Greg Stewart, MD, the W. Kennon McWilliams Professor in Sports Medicine, is the medical director for the Tulane University Center for Brain Health, whose central mission is to provide care for military veterans regardless of discharge status.

Dr. Stewart recently spoke to Tulane's On Good Authority podcast about the hurdles veterans face in receiving quality health care and the difficult challenge in finding some of these wounded warriors suffering from invisible wounds. He also explained a new, successful treatment concept to help veterans heal and lower risks for suicide. Listen to the podcast here.
