

Tulane Center for Autism
and Related Disorders

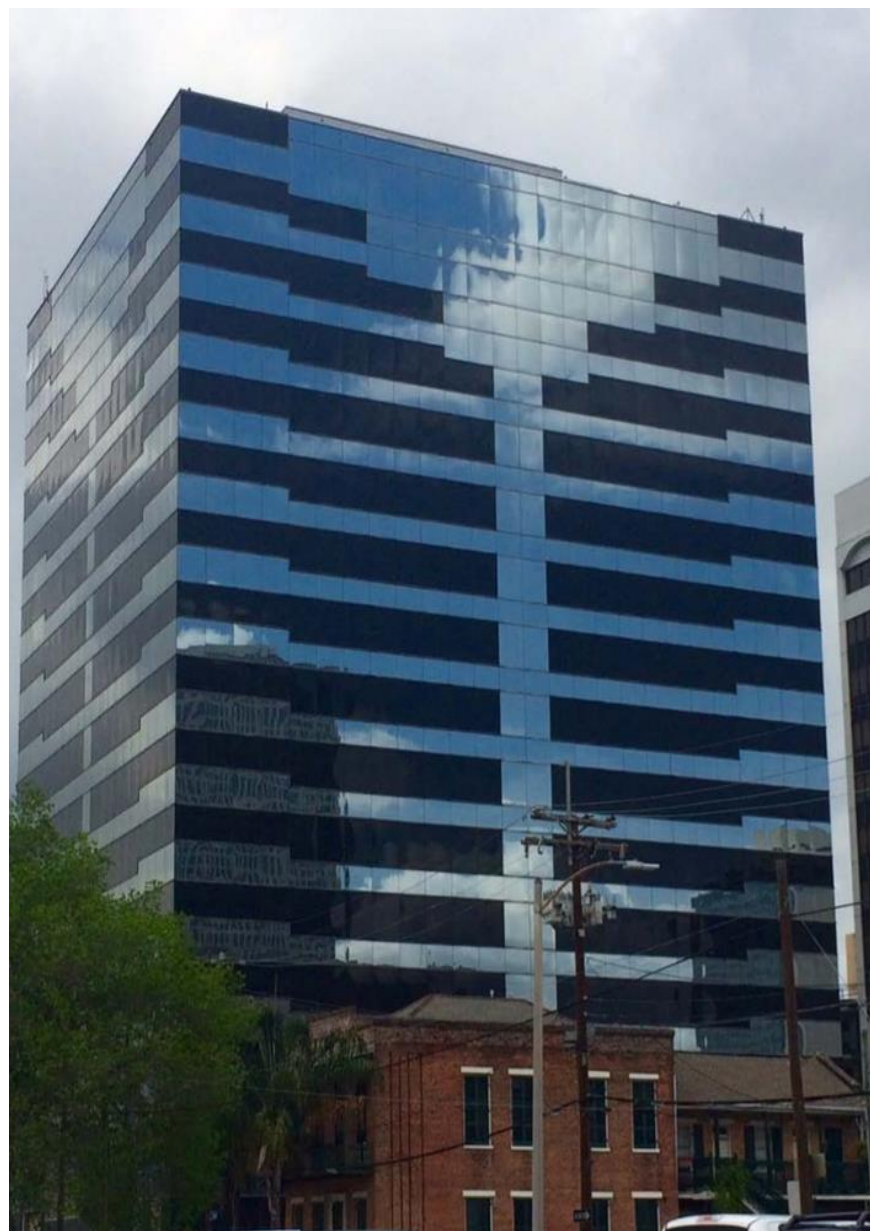

TULANE UNIVERSITY

My Visit to TCARD

I will be going to TCARD this week!
TCARD stands for Tulane Center for Autism and Related Disorders. I am going so we can learn more about how I think and find ways to help me if I need them.

TCARD is in downtown New Orleans in the Murphy building.

When I get to the Murphy building, I will ride the elevator to the 14th floor. Then I will go to the front desk and check in.

I will wait in the waiting room until my appointment. There are chairs to sit in and toys for me to play with. It is important that I am quiet and don't leave the waiting area.

When it is time for my appointment, the TCARD team will come to get me.

Dr. Lisa & Mrs. Kathryn

Then we will go into a room down the hall.

When we get into the room, I will take some tests. The tests might include looking at pictures, drawing, listening to stories, answering questions, arranging blocks, and more!

These tests will help figure out what's going on in my brain and how life can be made easier for me. Nothing that I do at TCARD will hurt me.

So, I will follow directions and do my best.

Testing will take a few hours, depending on how many I need to take. If I need a break, snack, or something to drink, I can ask!

When Dr. Lisa and Mrs. Kathryn get through all the tests with me, it will be time to go home!

I may feel tired after testing, but if I did my best,
then I did a great job!

