November 22, 2021

*Next week’s Inside Tulane Med will be sent Monday, November 29 at noon.

News

1. In her words: Bennetta Horne talks about her new role at Tulane School of Medicine
2. Dr. Raju Thomas receives Spirit of Charity Award
3. Student-run clinic at Ozanam Inn moves into dedicated space
4. Miguel Alonso of New Orleans Children’s Health Project named Angel Award winner
5. REMINDER: Complete your mandatory EDI training by November 30th
6. Remember to RSVP for the 12th Annual Faculty Research Synergy Event Dec. 7

Tell us your news

Events of the Week

The Department of Biochemistry & Molecular Biology Seminar Series presents "An Insider’s View of Nature Nanotechnology" with Chiara Pastore, PhD, Springer Nature, Senior Editor at Nature Nanotechnology. Monday, November 22 at noon. Join via Zoom.
Deming Department of Grand Rounds presents "Providing Feedback for Learners" with Elma I. LeDoux, MD, Associate Dean for Admissions and Student Affairs. Wednesday, November 24 at noon. Join via Zoom, Passcode: 364992.

---

Lagniappe

The Tulane Medical Weight Loss Clinic is now open to anyone looking for a non-surgical option for weight loss. The clinic is run by Shauna Levy, MD, MS, who is an Assistant Professor of Surgery and a board-certified obesity medicine specialist. Click here for more information.

---

In her words: Bennetta Horne talks about new role

Bennetta Horne, MS, has built her career on seeing the possibilities. She’s helped countless students make their dreams about attending university and medical school become realities.

Horne was recently named the Assistant Dean for Equity, Diversity and Inclusion and she’s also director of the Office of Multicultural Affairs at Tulane University School of Medicine. In her own words, Horne talks about her new role and the possibilities she sees at the School of Medicine. Read more here.