May 2022 PhD Newsletter

Announcements

Special Bonfire for 2022 and 50th
Enjoy a night of camaraderie and fun at the Tulane Graduation Reception!

Graduation Reception

The Office of International Students and Scholars

Website: https://medicine.tulane.edu/studentaffairs/professionalismenvironment-learning-program

https://tulane.co1.qualtrics.com/jfe/form/SV_01bkeDEobePmYbc

https://medicine.tulane.edu/studentaffairs/professionalismenvironment-learning-program

Resources

Recent Publications

T Cells and B Cells," Mentor: Dr. James McLachlan, Defended 4/26/22

Infections," Mentor: Dr. Monica Embers, Defended 4/7/22

Dissertation Defense

Dr. Weiwei Xu's Office Hours

The Office of International Students and Scholars (OISS) has Downtown Office hours every Wednesday from 3-4 PM in the Student Center.

Upcoming Events

Graduation Reception: Thursday, May 19, 6-9 PM, The University Room, in the Business Complex

Please RSVP and get a wristband in order to attend, dress is business casual

https://tulane.co1.qualtrics.com/jfe/form/SV_01bkeDEobePmYbc

Two Postdoc Positions

Two Postdoc Positions are available in Dr. Elizabeth Norton's lab, Dept of Microbiology/Immunology. The three projects of interest involved in these positions are the following:

One Postdoc Position

One Postdoc Position is available in Dr. Yi-Ping Li's lab, Dept. Pathology. Candidates should have training and experience in the design and execution of research protocols in the context of in vivo animal models. Research in the laboratory focuses on the pathogenesis and treatment of viral infections, including but not limited to, SARS-CoV-2.

Four Postdoc Positions

Four Postdoc Positions are available through the newly funded NIH project program grant BMSP 9990-01, CRN: 20768.

If you have any announcements to share in the newsletter, please send them to bms@tulane.edu.

Spotlight

HIDE checks on these three students who participated in the Zoom Meet & Greet: Two students are from related fields. For contact information, contact lindsey@tulane.edu.

Happy Asian American and Pacific Islander Heritage Month!

Mai Hinhaha

PhD Fellow

Department of Pharmacology

Le Dinh

PhD Fellow

Department of Pharmacology

Sarah Hayes

PhD Fellow

Department of Pharmacology